

Editors' Association of Canada/Association canadienne des réviseurs Honorary Life Membership Policy

Effective date: June 2021

Policy purpose

The purpose of this policy is to recognize members who have made an outstanding contribution to the Editors' Association of Canada/Association canadienne des réviseurs.

Policy statement

Member contributions are vital to achieve the aims and objectives of the association. It is the policy of the Editors' Association of Canada (Editors Canada) to recognize members who make an outstanding contribution to the association, by conferring an honorary life membership on those members who meet the criteria.

Applicability

This policy applies to all current or lapsed members of the association who, in the course of their membership, have made a sustained, significant contribution to the work or welfare of the association.

The determination of what makes a "sustained, significant contribution" is defined in the Honorary Life Membership Procedures.

Responsibility

Members in good standing are responsible for nominating someone for an honorary life membership.

The national executive council will approve the members of the honorary life membership evaluation committee.

The evaluation committee is responsible for doing a thorough review of a nomination for honorary life membership, using the extensive review mechanism described in the Honorary Life Membership Procedures.

The evaluation committee is also responsible for voting on and conferring each honorary life membership.
